Drawing conclusions means to make reasonable conclusions about events in a story using the information given.

Comprehension Worksheet

Tom liked a good game very much. He could run, swim, jump, and play ball. He was always merry when out of school.

1. What did Tom like?

_____

2. Why was Tom happy when school was out?

_____

Last night, the cold north wind blew. The wind blew great snow clouds over the sky. Not a star was seen. Not a bit of blue sky could be seen.

1. How did the wind felt last night?

_____

2. Why couldn't the star and sky be seen?

_____

One day, Bessie said, "How nice it would be to have a garden? It should only have wild flowers in it. So into the house she ran. She found her Aunt Annie. She asked her leave to go over on the shady hillside. There, across the brook, the wild flowers grew thickest.

1. What did Bessie want?

_____

2. Why did she ask to go to the shady hillside?

_____

_____

She was back at the house in a few minutes, calling, "Mother! Mother! Auntie! Who wants me?"

"I, dear," said her mother. "I am going away for a long visit, and if you had not come at once, I could not have said good-by to my little girl."Then Bessie's mother kissed her, and told her to obey her kind aunt while she was gone.

1. What is the little girl's name?

_____

2. Who call her?

_____

3. Why was she called?

_____